—AND SOME HUMOR

Wife: "When you came home last night you said you had been to the Grand with Mr. Jones. Now you say it was the Trocadero. Why did you lie?"

Husband: "When I came home I couldn't say Trocadero."

—AND SOME VERSE

The Quince Tree

The quinces are like green lamps

amid red leaves—

Little green hand lamps that hang there last night when the long leaves turned

From emerald to a mass of crimson flame—

Enchanted fire that through the dawn mist burned.

Beautiful in Autumn on the land

Where quinces hang like lamps among red leaves.

And when the moon climbs over the

gaunt hills,

Silver-green are the quinces in her light,

Like lamps among the leaves above

the well

That mirrors them with a thousand scattered stars.

See, there, a red leaf on the water fell.

One by one they will fall through the Autumn night.

Tomorrow, at dawn, the well will brim with leaves.

21 LOCAL WOMEN GUESTS AT FARM

Are Given Trip to Manchester by Poultry Company

Twenty-one Columbia women went to St. Louis on a special bus yesterday as guests of a poultry products company. They were given a chicken dinner at the farm of the company which is located on a tract of land joining Manchester on Highway 66, known as Manchester Road.

The trip was arranged by W. B. Oxford, secretary of the company, through Dawes and Dawes, real estate dealers of Columbia. The purpose was to show the visitors the poultry industry of that section of the state. The company is undertaking a new project for the Middle West. The development is copied after poultry projects in California, such as the Fontana and Runyon poultry companies in the southern part of California, and the Petaluma Farms in the central portion.

Next Sunday Mr. Oxford is planning another excursion. A special bus will leave Columbia in the morning, and after a chicken dinner at the Manchester farm and a tour of the city, will start on the return trip.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS NAME COMMITTEE

Group to Continue Campaign for Clergymen College Fund

The board of directors of the Clergymen of Commerce held a luncheon meeting at the Tavern today at noon where a committee of six was appointed to visit the property owners and officials of the larger business institutions of the city in the interest of the campaign for funds for the Clergymen College.

The committee is composed of L. M. Rice, chairman, S. F. Conley, J. M. Taylor, A. Nickel, Alf T. E. Haynes, and Barton Robnett.

A thorough canvass of the retail establishments has been made by committees and according to L. E. State, secretary of the organization, the Chamber of Commerce has gone as far as it can with the campaign until the property owners of the city lend a hand in the campaign.

The committee is expected to show the people who haven't contributed, according to the board, that it is up to them to put the campaign over. The success of the drive hinges on the property owners and the larger business institutions of the city, it said.

The Board of Directors went on record as favoring all the propositions in Referendum 53 which was submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce in regard to highway and motor transportation.
